The achedule below lists numbers of soldiers that are expected for training periods at Camp Grayling through the end of September. Numbers are reduced from previous years because of training in other states and countries. One example is that Michigan units, numbering 1,561 soldiers, will support the Summer Olympics in Atlanta, accompanied by units from Ohio, Indiana and other states.

These soldiers will not be spending their allotted two weeks of annual training in Grayling.

Worst case of animal cruelty in county history

By Linda Sherwood Staff Writer

Described as the worst incident of animal cruelty in Crawford County history, investigators are seeking arrest warrants against the former residents of a home on East M-72 just past Stephan Bridge Road.

The bodies of 20 animals have been identified, including geese, ducks, rabbits, a goat, a guinea pig, turkeys, chickens and a dog.

With three-to-four feet of snow on the ground, Animal Control Officer Dixie Lobsinger said more bodies may be found as the snow continues to melt.

The house was abandoned in December, with the tenants moving to another home within Crawford County.

Only 15 bodies have been recovered so far, the other five are frozen in ice and snow, making them impossible to remove. Salt has been sprinkled around the bodies to speed up the thewing process.

The bodies were taken to the Grayautopsies to be performed.

The exact cause of death can't be reported until the results of the autopsies are complete.

"It appears most of them had starved," said Lobsinger.

Legislation would establish forest recreation system

A legislative package recently approved by the Michigan House, activities such as hunting, fishing, ensures the maintenance, management and promotion of the state forest system, said a northern Michigan lawmaker who supported the plan.

State Rep. Allen Lowe, R-Grayling, said House Bills 5502 and 5503 require grant concessions for such services as the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) to establish a forest recreation fund, and develop an integrated recreation system within Michigan forests.

"This helps those who enjoy camping, hiking, canoeing, snowmobiling and boating," said Lowe, a member of the House Tourism and Recreation Committee.

Under the proposal, the DNR can liveries or snack bars, and accept gifts or bequests from public and private sources for the recreation fund. Each concession will be awarded every seven years, based on extension,

ALMANACK By Richard Milliman

After John Engler who will it be?

MOST OF THE WORLD is still caught up in the question of who will be the next president of the United States, but here in Michigan, advance thinkers have moved on to the really vital poser of the day:

Who will be the candidates for governor of Michigan in 1998?

Admittedly, it's a guessing game at this point, but political guessing always is fun. And the field is wide open.

A Lansing polling firm recently got into the act, putting together a list of six Republicans and five Democrats as potential candidates for governor two years hence. And asking likely primary voters for their choices.

The winners: Democrat Donald Riegle and Republican Brooks Pauerson.

The poll did not take the next logical step in trying to pick a winner.

ACCORDING TO The Detroit News report on the poll, recent Sen. Riegle received 43.8 percent of the Democrat mention, while among Republicans, Mr. Patterson—now Oakland County executive and a frequent statewide candidate for something of other—topped the GOP list with 19 percent.

Next among Democrats came East Lansing's Larry Owen (who lost in the 1994 Democratic primary for governor with 3.5 percent), State Sen. James Bryan of Adrian (who has announced as a 1998 candidate for governor) with 2.3 percent, Doug Ross, John Schwarz of Battle Creek at 1.1 percent.

Some obvious names are missing.

House Speaker Paul Hilligonds of Holland, who recently indicated he won't run for the state House again, but may go for governor, was left off the list because (according to the News) pollsters believed he would run for something else.

Then there's Lt. Gov. Connie Binsfeld and former Gov. James Blanchard, who has resigned as ambassador to Canada.

Either would have been close to the top of the list, had they been included. At this point, any poll of potential governors two years hence will strictly be a contest of name recognition.

OF COURSE, the biggest potential of them all—Gov. John Engler himself. was not mentioned.

Chances are he would have swept the field. Mr. Engler should not be counted out for a third term, depending, of course, on whether he will be either vice president or president in 1998, which also is a possibility, either way

Political hunchsters also might inspect the mid-Michigan congressional race this year between Republican Dick Chrysler and potential Democratic challenger Debbie Stabenow.

This congressional contest possibly could produce a candidate for governor, depending on who goes to Congress and who stays home.

Both have run for governor before-Ms. Stabenow in 1994, and Mr. Chrysler in 1986.

Neither survived the primary, but both obviously have some interest in the governor's mansion.

Whoever loses for Congress might well turn to the governor's opening.

The 1998 run for governor is more than two years away--but it's never too early to speculate, and it's a game anyone can play.

Our community cares and shares

To the editor.

Even though this is a difficult time for me, I feel a need to share my thoughts and feelings with the citizens of Crawford County.

I recently lost my husband, Jim Wakeley, to cancer and God, Jim was very proud of the fact that he was a native of Grayling, born, raised and lived here his entire 50 years, and that our four children, four grandchildren (plus one on the way) were also born, raised and reside here too.

He often commented on the fact that there was hardly a familiar face to be SCCII.

I also shared some of his concern, out that the new members of this community are indeed caring and sharing people too.

I was truly overwhelmed by the donations, cards of sympathy from people I didn't even know, and of the constant flow of food being sent. I even received a lovely card and money from one of Jim's elementary teachers, whom I never had the pleasure of meeting, but her thoughtfulness will never be forgotten.

So Crawford County natives and long-time residents, even though we have grown in size, we certainly have not lost the small hometown effect of the caring and sharing of all the people of Crawford County.

I know that Jim would be proud of, as well as I am, Kevin, Michael, Amy and Todd are, to be a part of this wonderful community. God bless all of you.

FOOT

by Ronald K. Olm, D.P.M Age-old Problems

When most people think about getting older, such physical changes as laugh lines and heir loss likely come to mind. Fat pads and toe joints are usually not high on the worry list. How the feet age, though, may have more to do with a healthy long life than an ocean-full of wrinkle cream. Like facial skin, the skin on the feet loses elasticity with age, making feet more susceptible to calluses and injuries. Toenails may either become thin and brittle or thick and infected. Bones tend to become brittle, actually changing shape. Joints lose flexibility, and fat pads start to thin on the heels and balls of the feet. Blood vessels may narrow, arteries clog, and veins enlarge. Ligaments, tendons, and muscles tend to weaken.

No matter how old your feet are, if they hurt, it's important to find out why. Following diagnosis, it's then time to formulate a treatment plan which may consist of medications, orthotics, or surgery. Whatever your foot problems - don't try to cure them on your own - it's important to communicate with your doctor, GRAND TRAVERSE FOOT & ANKLE CENTER, P.C.'s state of the art offices are located at 1209 E. 8th St., Traverse City. Phone 922-9100 & 600-968-7440, We're also located at KALKASKA MEMORIAL HEALTH CENTER, Monday & Wednesday afternoons and evenings.

P.S. Regular foot care, including daily self inspections, can help ensure healthy feet despite the changes of aging.

1996 twister season approaches; Michigan 'dodged the bullet' in 1995

Last year was a relatively quiet one for tornadoes in Michigan, as only 12. twisters struck the state. That is 25 percent below the normal of 16. All of the tornadoes were weak and, in an unusual "twist," there were more tornadoes in northern Michigan than inthe southern part.

three people and caused about a quarresidents are warned not to become windows. too complacent: tornadoes have killed 341 Michigan citizens. In fact, Michigan holds the dubious distinction of having the eighth deadliest tornado in United States history, which occurred in Flint in 1953.

has declared March 24 through 30, 1996 as Severe Weather Awareness Weak in Michigan. The Michigan Committee for Severe Weather Awareness encourages residents to review tomado safety procedures, and to monitor rapidly changing weather conditions as spring approaches.

Tornadoes generally develop from severe thunderstorms, and are more likely to occur when there is unseasonably warm and humid air at the earth's surface and cold and dry air aloft, and strong upper-level jet stream winds. According to the National Weather Service, these conditions are most likely to occur in the spring, although a strong risk continues well

Although media attention frequently focuses on tornadoes, it is important to remember that severe thunderstorms without tornadoes are extremely dangerous. Severe wind, large hail, and lightning all need to be taken seriously. Last year, for example, three people died as a result of lightning strikes, and a July 13 severe storm killed a man when it collapsed the roof of a barn he was in. The wave of storms on that day alone caused over $5 million in damage.

Since tornadoes develop and move rapidly, Michiganians should familiarize themselves with the various severe weather alerts. A tornado watch simply means "watch out:" severe thunderstorms and tornadoes are possible. Residents should gather a first

Seasonal flood threat on the rise

Fortunately, Michigan escaped the severe flooding that has recently 690 Michigan communities participlagued the northwest and northeast sections of the country. However, according to the Michigan Committee for Severe Weather Awareness, 13 flash floods and 14 other flood events did result in over a quarter million dollars damage in this state during the past year.

To focus attention on flood safety planning, Governor John Engler has declared March 24-30 as Severe Weather Awareness Week in Michigan. Residents are encouraged to familiarize themselves with flood safety procedures.

At this time of year, the combination of rapidly melting snow and heavy spring rains can cause dramatic rises in streams and rivers, significantly increasing the threat of flooding. As the warm season progresses, heavy thunderstorm rains become more dominant, posing the additional threat of flash flooding for urban areas and small

"Michigan can experience flooding any time of the year," George Hosek, a member of the committee said. "The most recent severe flooding events occurred in the spring of 1975 and the fall of 1986."

Residents should be aware that regular homeowners insurance policies do not cover damages which result from flooding. Coverage is available through a federal program, however, only about 10 percent of structures subject to flooding are actually insured against the risk.

Taxes and your Social Security benefits

Question: Will I have to pay more income tax on my Social Security benefits this year?

Answer: Whether any of your Social Security benefits will be taxed depends on the amount of your income. If your modified adjusted gross income, plus onehalf of your Social Security benefits, is more than $34,000 (and you're single) or $44,000 (and you're married and filing a joint return), up to 85 percent of your Social Security benefit will be included in taxable income. If your modified adjusted gross income is less than these amounts, but more than $25,000 (single) or $32,000 (married filing jointly), you'll pay tax on a maximum of 50 percent of your benefits. Finally, if your income is below the levels just listed, your Social Security benefits will be tax-free. Special rules may apply if you are married and filing a separate tax return.

Currently there are approximately pating in the National Flood Insurance any source." In the standard flood Program (NFIP) and 20,000 policies insurance policy, direct physical losses in force. To purchase flood insurance under the program, residents must live in one of those participating communities. Coverage can be obtained through most licensed property/casualty insurance agents. To determine if flood insurance is available in a community, call NFIP at 800-638-6620.

Under the NFIP, a flood is defined in part, as "a general and temporary condition of partial or complete inundation of normally dry land areas from overflow of inland or tidal waters or

Turkey time!

The weather is beginning to moderate at last. It feels good to have some spring in the air. Turkey permits should be out this week. Then we can start getting ready for that season, get out the old calls and check them out. Maybe get out and take a ride to see if you can locate some big toms.

A few sketchy reports of early steelhead are starting to drift in. Many of the streams are open all year, others open April 1. There are some fish in the lower Platte and also the Betsie River.

There is still lots of ice for you pan fisherman.

was driving a fuel truck in Crawford County. Seeing a fire truck with just two crewman, he would stop and help out until more help arrived.

"Fire trucks were always shorthanded," said Golnick. One man would be operating the pump, the other the hose, so Golnick would help out on the hose.

It was scary, not being trained, said Golnick. Hoping he was doing the right thing and getting out of the way after more volunteers would arrive.

"It was a thrill, but it was a scaring thrill, excitement," said Golnick. "Every fire you go on, you're always scared. You don't let it overcome you. You still go in there and do your job."

> "Hopefully I can put a few more years in," said Golnick.

When he first came on the department, there were 15 volunteers and they covered three-fourths of the county. Since then, new departments have sprung up like Beaver Creek, South Branch and Lovells Township fire departments.

The biggest difference since becoming a volunteer is the equipment, said Golnick. He remembers having to carry a torch to keep the pumper from freezing when fighting fires in weather with temperatures reaching 15, 20

Golnick. "Being a fireman is like a police officer, not everyone can do it. It's not as simple as it looks."

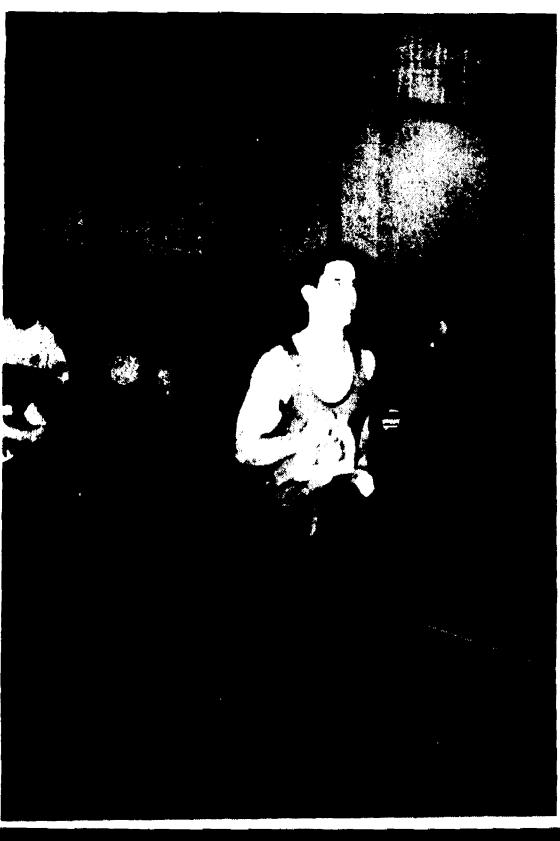

The members of the department meet every Monday night for 2-3 hours, to discuss strategies, check equipment and get the trucks ready to roll for the next fire.

The department uses every fire they go to as a training exercise. After the fire, at the weekly meeting, strategies are discussed. What worked, what didn't, what should and shouldn't have been done. In the past, the department was able to burn houses for training purposes. Golnick said that is one of the best methods for training.

"Each fire you go onto is different," he said, "It's like snowflakes. You never know if you are going to come back or not. It's a dangerous deal."

If a shrub is seriously overgrown and needs to be cut back. pruning may be necessary to maintain the plant's health. A "thinning" cut removes limbs at the base, allowing new growth. ### Planning guarantees remodeling success

A home addition or remodeling project can add value to your life and to your home. Best of all, the project doesn't need to be extensive or expensive to provide you with more space today and increased value at resale time.

Before you begin, remember that careful planning ensures happiness upon completion of a remodeling project. This planning includes an important question to ask yourself and your family: "Do we have the time, talents and resources necessary to do the job ourselves, or should we hire a professional?"

Putting It On Paper

A successful start to any remodeling project is putting your plans on paper. Start with a thorough inventory of your home. List what you like and dislike, and identify your current and future needs. Next, list what you'd like to change about your home and develop a "wish list" of features for this new change. This list will be helpful as you proceed with planning and setting your budget.

Hiring A Designer

If your project involves moving walls, redesigning space or building a home addition, you'll probably need an architect or designer. This person's professional expertise will ensure that the completed project enhances your home and satisfies you.

Consult with friends who have completed remodeling projects or check with a local professional association. such as the American Institute of Architects. Choose two or three architects to meet and discuss your project. Ask to see recently completed jobs and for the names of clients.

After you've chosen an architect, work closely with him or her while your plans are being developed. This is an important time to ask questions and to modify your plans.

Hire A Pro Or Do It Yourself?

Now that your plans are on paper, it's time to make the decision to do the work yourself or hire a professional remodeler. Ultimately, you should consider quality. If the finished product isn't consistent with the rest of the home, the money saved will not be money carned at resale. Here are three questions to consider as you're making this decision.

- . Do I have the time to do the job right?
- Do I have the skills required?
- · Will the quality be consistent with the existing construction?

If you can't answer "yes" to all of these questions, then you'll probably be better off hiring a professional.

The next step is choosing a contractor for your project. Begin by developing a list of four or five contractors referred by friends or associations, like the National Association of the Remodeling Industry or the National Association of Home Builders.

Use the following criteria to help choose a qualified contractor.

· Get rough estimates. Use your plan to describe what you want and find a realistic price range.

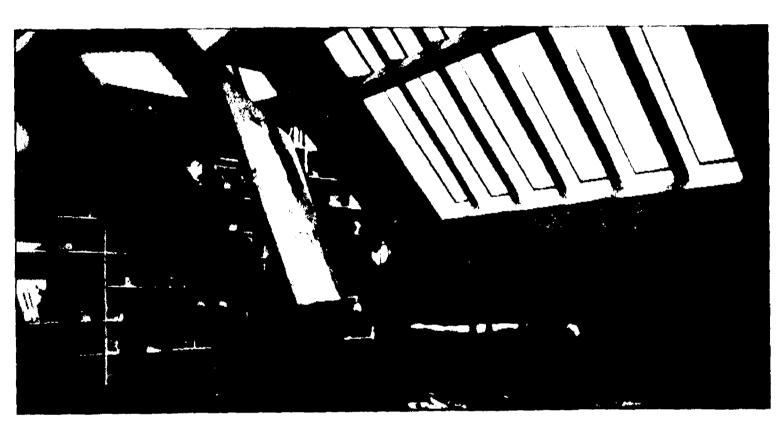

- Establish credentials. Contact the Better Business Bureau and see if the contractor is bonded and has protection for worker's compensation and personal hability.
- · Ask for references. They are critical to determine the contractor's workmanship and business ethics.
- Get a firm bid by submitting the working blueprint to several of the best candidates, Make sure the contractors are using the same information on products used and work done

Once you're satisfied with a single contractor, get a written contract that outlines details of the project and each before making a payment.

individual's obligations. This should include costs, payment schedules and penalties, if any, Most payment schedules require money down, an amount when the project is half done. and the balance upon completion Never pay total costs in advance and make sure you are completely satisfied

The answer is doors, doors, doors, doors

"When life knocks at the door no one can wait." John Masefield

I'm going to paraphrase the poet Masefield to describe my home improvement project. "When life knocks your doors you can't wait."

That about summed up the condition of the interior doors in my 14year old home. Life had knocked on these doors with a heavy hand. That paraphrase, by the way, also summed up the attitude of my wife each time she opened or closed or looked at one of the old doors.

The decorating style of our home, when we moved in, resembled one of those dark. Tryrolean hunting lodges in the Black Forest.

The kitchen tile had a dark brown design, which matched the dark brownish wallpaper. The cabinets were dark stained wood with 50s style Tyrolean curticues and black wrought iron hinge work

And the interior doors, which definitely complemented this decor and color scheme, were dark stained flush, lauan type, hollow core models. Aesthetic appeal, none. Sound. deadening qualities, none. Wife satisfaction, none. They had to go

Prior to our moving in, a family with four growing boys occupied the home. The doors withstood the boyish hobbies: of excessive slamming, poster hanging and ball-bouncing. The basement door was used with such exoberance that where the door bit the door stopper, a large hole had worked its way into the face of the door

So, we started to bring a little light into this dark scene. We replaced the tile, remodeled the cabinets, and stripped and painted the walls a bright cheery white. This had a dramatic et tect on the interior of the home.

But, in spite of all the work, some thing was still out of place, or rather still in place. That something was the dark brown collection of interior doors. We began to look for suitable replacements

"Wallpaper came alive...and four doors were five." Mark Van Doren

We visited several home improve ment centers to get background on styles, types and costs. Here is what

Interior doors come in a great many styles, shapes and price levels. We found we could teplace our hollow core, lauan doors with more hollow core lanan doors and paint them white. The other choices included solid-Oak or Pine wood doors, hollow core raised panel doors and a newer item. solid core raised panel doors. The raised panel doors are faced with a wood composite material that resembles wood grain. These doors also come with a smooth face, which when painted cannot be distinguished from their solid wood counterparts. There is a wide variety of styles available. too. There are two panel, three panel. four-panel, and six panel. Some were plain fronted, some had evebrow designs. All the doors we looked at are sold in slab form. Which means they all have to be pre bung. That is, drilled and routed for lunges and lock sets to match your door openings.

Prices varied widely, too, From $300 for a solid Oak door to $29.50 for the hollow core lauan models. The raised panel models ranged from around 850. for the hollow core to about $75 for the

After looking carefully at all the options, we chose a smooth, six-panel, solid core, raised panel door made by Premdor Inc. The door is called Safe N' Sound. It has superior sound deadening and tire resistance qualities. It comes factory primed and ready to be painted to match your home's color scheme.

The most popular kitchens today are open to the dining area and seating area. "Light and airy" is the general theme of modern kitchens and it is achieved with french doors, skylights and lots of windows that let in the sun and a view of the garden.

Besides larger living areas, the extra space in homes is being used for storage and flexible, multi-purpose areas. A room over the garage that becomes a bedroom for an aging parent or returning child, a dining room with built-in bookshelves that doubles as a study or office—these are flexible uses of space that buyers are seeking.

The median size of a newlycompleted single-family home in 1994

By Tri-Lakes Home Builders was 1,940 square feet. Does that mean that size home is right for everyone or that every house built was that size? Of course not—choice is a key element for American home buyers.

Many people choose much smaller homes while others opt for homes with a lot more square footage. Often, the choices depend upon the buyer's ages and their station in life. Singles and young couples with no children definitely have different needs than a family with several teenagers or the empty-nester couple.

A condo or townhouse or other smaller, attached home may be perfect for single people or young couples with no children or just a baby. These home buyers may be happy with 1- or 2-bedroom homes.

As family size grows, so does the need for a bigger home. Typically, families with children choose a larger, single-family home with a yard and garage. New homes with four bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths and at least a 2car garage are increasingly popular for families.

In 1994, 30 percent of new homes had four or more bedrooms, up from 20 percent in 1986. In 1994, just about half (49 percent) of new homes built had 2 1/2 baths; 15 percent had three baths or more. Also, 78 percent of new homes had at least a 2-car garage, up from 60 percent in 1986.

When the children go off to college and parents are still working and active and healthy, they may not yet think it is time to downsize. Rather, they may customize their home or buy a new home that better suits their needs. Many are taking a fourth bedroom and No other flooring material provides a lifetime of service like combining it with the existing master bedroom to create a more luxurious master bedroom/bath with additional closets.

> In new homes, these buyers are looking for two master bedrooms, one on the lower level for their own use to avoid stair climbing and another on the second level for family and guests. These well-to-do home buyers want their house guests to have a bedroom suite as comfortable as their own.

A few years down the road, these home owners may be ready for the more care-free lifestyle of an attached home or condo. Unwilling to give up the luxuries they're accustomed to, they want spacious and comfortable homes with plenty of amenities and Storage space.

The choices in home size and style are abundant, so there's a perfect home for everyone, at every stage of life.

Neutral colors reflect comfort, environment

By Tri-Lakes Home Builders Association

Like so many other things these days, today's popular colors of the home are recycled. Yesterday's harvest gold is today's mustard, the old avocado green is today's very-trendy sage and bone is now biscuit.

The most popular colors are neutrals and light earth tones rather than pastels or jewel tones.

"Colors are definitely going more neutral with warmer colors, like red or evergreen, being used as accents," said Suzanne Felber, president of Memory Merchandising, a model home decorating and merchandising company with offices in Tucson. Dallas and New York. "Like everything else, color is being influenced by environmental concerns."

Used in the home, these environmentally-influenced colors create surroundings that are being used for everything from natural environment-maple sugar, antelope, nectar, peach, bamboo and evergreen, for example.

"The earth tones are recycled from the late '70s and early '80s, but they're lighter," Green said.

While neutrals have always been popular, they are gaining wider appeal. in part, because of the trend of do-ityourself decorating. According to Felber, "Home buyers are more likely to spent their money on neutral colors."

This trend toward neutral is also seen in furnishings. At a recent contemporary furniture show in New York, where cold metals usually dominate, neutrals were everywhere, Felber said. Most of the furnishings featured neutral colors with wood and teak. The popular British Colonial furnishings look of rattan and teak also works well with neutral colors and accents.

Unlike some past color trends, neutrals are being seen in every region of the country, Felber said. In the Southwest, a sand base mixed with tropical colors is prevalent; in Dallas, neutrals are used with black; and on the East Coast, neutrals are seen with jewel tones as accents.

Environmental issues influence lawn care

Environmental impacts and benefits are important points to consider when determining whether to establish a new lawn with sod or seed, according to the Turf Resource Center, a not-for-profit, educational group in suburban Chicago. Pesticide usage and erosion control are just two environmental factors the organization says can make a major difference in the decision making process.

In years past, before the age of environmental awareness and concern, cost versus value was most often the basis for deciding between sod or seed to establish or renew a lawn. Proponents of each method would argue long and loud. One group would point to the low price of seed versus the cost of mature sod, while another group would point out the amount of continual labor and lack of use the seeded lawn would require compared to the sodded yard. Higher management and maintenance costs of seeded lawns were acceptable to some homeowners. while others insisted that the cost of sodding was more than returned when visual appeal, uniformity and other factors were considered.

Today, lawn-establishment decisions are being made with a greater concern for the environment. While some people may still make their decision based on a seed-only price compared to installed sod, more and more homeowners and landscape professionals are very concerned about the following environmental factors.

Time Of Year For Installation

While turfgrass sodding can be successful whenever sod is available (practically year-round, even when the soil is frozen), recommendations for seeding are usually restricted to the fall or perhaps the spring in some areas and it's to be avoided during the winter or summer. Seasonal delays in establishing a lawn with seed will prolong and perhaps even worsen outside environmental factors while certainly creating indoor environmental havoc with tracked-in mud and dirt.

Soil Preparation

Although seeding and sodding both require deep tilling, proper soil amendments and adequate drainage, sodding immediately over properly prepared soil will ensure that the effort is not wasted or damaged by untimely rains, wash-outs or other disruptive factors. Delays between seeding and adequate establishment usually require multiple repairs, reseeding and still further delays.

Water Requirements

Seeded or even hydroseeded lawn will require considerably more water than a sodded lawn, regardless of the time of year it is planted. Sod, as a mature plant with an intact root structure, will shade the soil, reduce evaporation and subsequent drying out, as its roots probe deeper and deeper into the soil for the water it needs. The water conserved by using sod will of course reduce water bills, but it will also permit that unused amount of water to be available for other purposes.

Turfgrass sod is delivered as a weed-free thick and mature piece of grass that is able to choke-out weed seedlings that may be present in the yard or that are blown in during the year. Thus, weed control is seldom an issue for many years with a sodded lawn. On the other hand, multiple weed control treatments are typically required on seeded lawns because the grass seedlings are unable to compete with vigorously growing weeds. Without the established leaf, thatch and root structure of sod, herbicides applied to newly seeded lawns have a greater chance of creating environmentally unsound runoff problems

Runoff Or Erosion

Scientific tests have repeatedly shown turfgrass sod to be 10 to 15 times more effective in controlling erosion than many man made erosion control materials. Sod will control runoff or erosion, even in the heaviest of storms, while seeded lawns will suffer from wash-outs, silt pile-ups and seed waste. Runoff and silt from a seeded lawn may clog storm-water sewers or wash pesticides and fertilizers into the area's waterways.

In addition to these specific environmental considerations, related issues such as uniformity of coverage, visual impact and usability also favor the use of turfgrass sod over seeding. As to the seed itself, few homeowners will ever equal the quality of seed or plant materials used by professional sod producers because their reputation goes with each piece of sod they self.

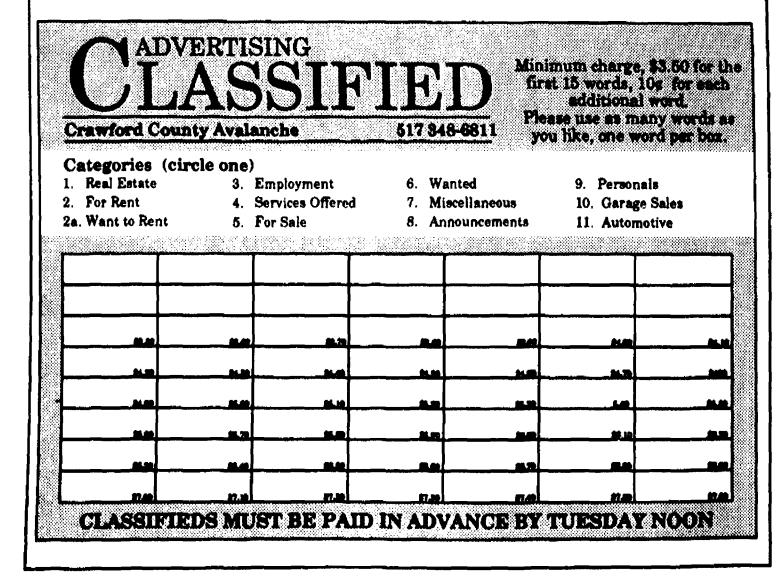

Overall, turfgrass sod offers multiple environmental advantages over seeded lawn establishment. Because the sod is from nine months to two years old at the time it is delivered to the home, and it has reached that level of maturity under the watchful and trained eyes of a professional turfgrass sod producer.

and non-rusting screws in lead sleeves, to secure the wood frame.

The Easy Way

To build three screen walls around a roofed patio, the following steps are recommended.

Each screen wall can be "pre-fabricated" as a unit, then secured. Begin by mounting 2-in, x 4-in, wood base strips along the patio floor and main wall of the house - drilling through masonry if necessary - and measure the space within the rectangles formed. You'll build a screen wall for each of these rectangles, then attach screening to the frames. Apply wood stains or other finishes before the screening is installed.

Build the frames separately to fit the three spaces, using vertical beams spaced evenly on 24-in., 36-in., or 48-in, centers—all three are typical screen widths. A horizontal "rub rail" at chair back height, about 30-in, above the floor, will add stability. Use the metal framing angles on corners where the vertical and horizontal beams are joined.

To provide an outside exit from the porch, use two 4-in, x 4-in, studs to frame a door opening in one wall. You can then install a pre-made door easily.

Once the frames are finished, raise them into position and nail them to the floor and ceiling base strips, then nail the corners together. Now, add the screening in each vertical section by unrolling from the top down and stapling it into place. Cover the staples with wood strips of the same width and finish as the wood studs. If you have built a door frame, install the door and start enjoying your new summer living room!
